"Never have I disagreed with someone I found so agreeable. Ms. Coulter's read of the constitution may differ from mine, but she's got admirable courage, intelligence and passion." – Geraldo Rivera

"She serves up red meat by the slab. ... While Coulter can toss off references to James Madison's view of impeachment as quickly as the next lawyer, she delights in going for the jugular." – Howard Kurtz, The Washington Post

"The conservative movement has found its diva." – Bill Maher

No political scandal, event or ideal is safe from Ann Coulter's scrutiny, and prominent people are talking. She tackles the issues in the news with fervor, and stands up for the things that are most important to her. Whether or not you agree with Coulter's ideas, her articles are always provocative and interesting.

About the Creator:

Political analyst and attorney Ann Coulter has been dubbed "the Abbie Hoffman of the Right" for her witty, no-holds-barred commentaries on the Washington scene and the media world. Coulter now has three best-selling books: "Treason: Liberal Treachery from the Cold War to the War on Terrorism"; "Slander: Liberal Lies About the American Right" and "High Crimes and Misdemeanors: The Case Against Bill Clinton."

About "Treason," Amazon.com writes, "In a stunning follow-up to her number one bestseller 'Slander,' leading conservative pundit Ann Coulter contends that liberals have been wrong on every foreign policy issue, from the fight against Communism at home and abroad, the Nixon and the Clinton presidencies, and the struggle with the Soviet empire right up to today's war on terrorism."

"Slander" quickly vaulted to No. 1 on Amazon's best-selling list. "High Crimes and Misdemeanors" spent eight weeks on the New York Times bestseller list in 1998 and was widely praised by Judge Robert Bork, columnist George Will and many others. The book was cited in numerous editorials calling for President Clinton's resignation.

Harper's Bazaar described Coulter as "obsessed with protecting civil liberties and free speech." Called "one of the most popular pundits on MSNBC," Coulter has appeared on the following shows: ABC's "This Week"; "Good Morning America"; NBC's "Today Show"; "Real Time with Bill Maher"; CNN's "Larry King Live"; CNBC's "Rivera Live" and "Equal Time," among others. She also has been profiled in such diverse publications as The Washington Post, National Journal, New York magazine, TV Guide and Capital Style.

A graduate of Cornell University and the University of Michigan Law School, Coulter has worked as an attorney at the Center for Individual Rights (a conservative, public interest law firm), served as legal counsel to Sen. Spencer Abraham on the Senate Judiciary Committee and worked as an attorney at the U.S. Department of Justice. She also has practiced corporate law and clerked for the Eighth Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals.

Her newspaper column is distributed nationally by Universal Press Syndicate. Coulter writes a weekly legal column in the influential conservative weekly Human Events in which she discusses judicial rulings, constitutional issues and legal matters affecting Congress and the executive branch. She is a native of New Canaan, Conn.
