

The Duplex

A man, his ego, his dog and his beer – what more do you need to have a good laugh? How about a woman, her attitude, her poodle and her perfumes? How about the two of them living in a duplex?

Once upon a time there was a duplex where a young bachelor named Eno and his dog, Fang, shared an ultramacho haven of beer snacks and male bonding. Suddenly their lives turned coed when Gina and her poodle, Mitzi, moved into the other half of their building, putting Eno and Fang's chauvinistic natures at odds. For these two consummate guys, there is no escaping Gina's and Mitzi's wafting scents of perfume mixed with nail polish remover. The duplex has now become a dichotomy of bath salts and power tools, with only a 4-inch slab of drywall separating the two.

Glenn McCoy created THE DUPLEX to see what happens when two completely opposite worlds are connected by the same roof. Apparently the end result is laughter!

About the Creator:

Glenn McCoy was born in 1965. Four years later he began his career by learning to draw under the tutelage of his grandfather and older brother. An early interest in cartooning caused him to become a cartoonist for his grade school, high school and college newspapers. He graduated in 1988 from Southern Illinois University with a bachelor's degree in fine arts and graphic design.

After receiving his degree, McCoy landed a job as art director/editorial cartoonist for the Belleville News-Democrat in his hometown of Belleville, Illinois. He also began working for Playboy as a gag cartoonist in 1992, and in 1993 THE DUPLEX was picked up by Universal Press Syndicate. At this time, the Belleville News-Democrat named him its full-time editorial cartoonist.

The National Cartoonists Society named McCoy Magazine Cartoonist of the Year in 1996; in 1997, the organization named him Editorial Cartoonist of the Year. Compilation books of McCoy's editorial cartoons have been published, along with and one book of his DUPLEX strips.
